Erasmus University Rotterdam

Erasmus

Erasmus University takes its name from Desiderius Erasmus (1469-1536), philosopher, theologian and humanist. He had a great influence on the intellectual and cultural climate of the Renaissance.

Born in Rotterdam he was a European ahead of his time, using the latest means of communication in his time: books.

Rotterdam

- Modern metropolis: over 170 nationalities
- Largest seaport in Europe
- European trading centre
- International atmosphere
- Academic laboratory (development and application of knowledge)
- Over 50,000 students in Rotterdam

Mission

To cultivate talent and produce knowledge at the academic level to benefit mankind, business and society, internationally, nationally and regionally.
